

Transamerica's Universal Life Insurance with the Chronic Condition Rider and Extension of Benefits Rider

The cost for a home health aide with medical training averages $4,200 a month.¹

MEET ALEXIS

Alexis lost her dad unexpectedly as a teen, so she knows the importance of having a plan to help safeguard her family's financial future.

That's why she enrolled in a $50,000 universal life insurance policy through her employer. This permanent² life insurance policy also includes the Accelerated Death Benefit for Chronic Condition Rider and the Extension of Benefits Rider — two features that help provide her and her family with money for care and peace of mind if she were to fall ill. It lets her accelerate double her death benefit early if she's diagnosed with a qualifying condition that leaves her unable to perform at least two of the six activities of daily living (and expected to be permanent). She feels better knowing there is financial support for her family if the unimaginable happens.

AN EXAMPLE OF HOW THE RIDERS WORK

The below hypothetical example assumes this employee elected a $50,000 death benefit amount.

$50,000	If Alexis is diagnosed with a qualifying condition, she can use the Chronic Condition Rider feature included in her policy ($2,000/month for 25 months)
+
$50,000	Extension of Benefits Rider ($2,000/month for an additional 25 months)
=
$100,000	TOTAL (PAID OVER 50 MONTHS)

These benefits provide cash to help cover costs not covered by medical insurance such as a caregiver — at home or in a facility — out-of-pocket deductibles, or any other bills you choose.

² It is important to note that the insurance could lapse prior to the maturity date based on the planned periodic premiums, guaranteed interest rate, and guaranteed cost of insurance charges, or for nonpayment of premium.

³ Loans, withdrawals, and death benefit accelerations will reduce the policy value and the death benefit and may increase lapse risk. Policy loans are tax-free provided the policy remains in force. If the policy is surrendered or lapses, the amount of the policy loan will be considered a distribution from the policy and will be taxable to the extent that such loan, plus other distributions at that time, exceed the policy basis.
